Girl Scouts of Ohio’s Heartland has partnered with the OSU African American and African Studies Community Extension Center to offer a four-part programming series entitled Girls GO Techbridge. This programming series will offer registrants an opportunity to participate in a sample of our various Girls GO Techbridge Engineering programs. The Girls GO Techbridge program series encourages participants to have fun while developing the content knowledge, communication and teamwork experience related to careers in science and engineering. The $20 fee covers all supplies for the programming series, and all participants will become members of Girl Scouts. If you would like to decline membership, please indicate in the space provided on the registration form. Financial assistance is available for those in need.

Design Time
Work through the engineering design process and get your creative juices flowing with four playful design scenarios.

Power it Up
Master electricity and circuits through a series of hands-on investigations, with the option to use a soldering iron.

Engineers to the Rescue
Apply engineering know-how, problem solving skills, and design savvy to navigate your way out of a camping trip gone wrong.

Thrillbuilders
Explore simple machines all around you in a crazy carnival of your own creation.

Women are largely underrepresented in STEM (science, technology, engineering and math) fields, and with exposure to quality programming, encouragement, and role models, the girls we work with may change this trend.

Only 30% of students exposed to computer science will pursue STEM careers, 4.6 million girls will need to be exposed to computer science education to fill half of the 1.4 million STEM jobs that will exist in 2020.
